

TRAINING FACILITIES

OBATLANTIS

Approximately 361 acres covering three islands.

A semi-permanent building to house American staff, stores and commo equipment. Personnel in training would be housed under canvas, each nationality being assigned separately to one of the three islands under their own respective case officers who would have permanent billets on the main island. BGFIEND and BGCONVOY could supply a total of eight American personnel who would act both as instructors and case officers. Two W/T instructors would also maintain commo between the training site and base.

There is a small supply boat to service and supply the island. A larger 15,000 dollar craft is nearing completion which will be used for operational support and training.

While the island is ready for training and holding purposes, it is not yet known how many agents are expected to be trained there. Information as to the exact training facilities is rather scanty.
